TRAIL BLAZERS

I LOVE A PARADE

Portland's seven-year-old franchise, in the NBA playoffs for the first time in 1977, did what only one other team in league history had ever done: win an NBA Championship in its first postseason appearance. More than 100,000 fans jammed downtown streets on the Monday following the title game to celebrate.

814

Consecutive Trail Blazers playoff appearances from 1982 to 2003. It still stands as the second longest run in NBA history.

21

The number of consecutive sellouts in the Trail Blazers' NBA record run from April 5, 1977 to Nov. 20, 1995. The streak remains the longest run in American professional sports.

THE RAIN COAT

Team founder Harry Glickman's initial bid for an NBA team in Portland was unsuccessful. As he was leaving a Los Angeles hotel lobby on Feb. 4, 1970, he remembered he'd left his raincoat in the meeting room. When he returned to retrieve it, there was a phone call awaiting him from new investors and sure enough he not only found his raincoat, but he found the financing for Portland's new team.

RS HISTORY

DREXLER/JORDAN

Geoff Petrie, the original Trail Blazer did it not just once buttwice, recording identical 51-point games within 56 days of each other, both against the Houston Rockets.

The Trail Blazers put together a couple of Championship runs in 1990 & 1992 including the heated battle of Clyde "The Glide" Drexler and Michael "Air" Jordan.

155-156

The highest scoring game in club history, a four-overtime marathon in Portland on March 16, 1984. The Chicago Bulls get the win but only after the two teams combine for 118 field goals and 74 free throws in a game that lasts 3 hours and 24 minutes.

RIP CITY BABY

A single phrase that has become the club's heart and soul. Credit Bill Schonely, the voice of the Blazers from 1970-98. "One night in our first season, we were playing the Lakers at home. We got way, way behind. Then, all of a sudden, shots started falling, the Blazers are rallying and the place is jumping. We got within two points and had the ball—I'll never forget when Jim Barnett took a long jumper. He swished the thing to tie the score and the coliseum exploded. The instant the ball hit the net, I hollered 'Rip City!' I'd never used the phrase before. But as soon as I said, 'Rip City,' people near me at the press table chimed in right away, saying 'That's good. You ought to leave it in your broadcasts.' So I did." And Rip City was born.

How the Trail Blazers got their name

Just two weeks after Portland was granted an NBA expansion franchise on Feb. 24, 1970, Harry Glickman, then executive vice president of the club, announced a public "name the team" contest. A panel of judges was selected.

Harry said boxes and boxes of entries arrived at the team headquarters then located in a storefront office on S.W. Yamhill between 5th and 6th Avenues. "There had to be 10,000 entries at least," he remembers.

The Trail Blazers name was announced to a crowd of 11,035 during halftime of a March 13 regular season NBA SuperSonics-Knicks contest in the Memorial Colisuem. It was received, according to Oregon Journal Sports Editor George Pasero, with less than enthusiastic response including a spattering of boos. "It really wasn't very popular when fans first heard it, but of course we all know that changed," Glickman remembers. Newspaper concerns about the Trail Blazers name ("How would it ever fit in a headline, etc.") quickly evaporated. And soon, the Blazers (or Trail Blazers) became a household word in Portland and within seven years worldwide as "Go Blazers" and "Blazermania" became bywords when the city gained a major world championship in its first try.

"There were 172 people who sent in the name 'Trail Blazers'," Glickman said. The contest winner was determined by a drawing at the March 13 game. Blake Byrne, general sales manager of KPTV, was winner of the drawing, receiving two season tickets to Blazers home games that year.

The nickname was unique in professional sports at the time. No other major professional or university sports teams were using either the Blazers or Trail Blazers in 1970. The name, as Glickman noted at the time, "reflects both the ruggedness of the Pacific Northwest and the start of a major league era in our state." Trail Blazers (or, more properly trailblazers) is defined by Webster as "One that blazes a trail to guide others: A pathfinder: A pioneer." The actual name came from a practice by explorers making paths through forests and marking the paths by chopping white "blazes" in trees' bark so others could follow. The term "trailblazing" is associated today with those on the cutting edge of discovery such areas as space exploration, science, medicine and techology.

The Logo

The original "pinwheel" logo is a modern graphic interpretation of five basketball players from one side going against five players from the other and rotating around a center circle in a pinwheel kind of motion. Nothing else. The original "pinwheel," in use as the team's logo for two decades, was straight vertical in orientation. It was modernized in the mid-1990s to have a forward "slant" then given an even more modern upgrade with the new "heritage" interpretation released in 2002.

PRESENT

Owner

Paul Allen

In 2009, investor and philanthropist Paul G. Allen celebrates his 21st year as owner of the Portland Trail Blazers, having purchased the National Basketball Association franchise from former owner Larry Weinberg. Just one season after Allen acquired the team, the Trail Blazers made it to the NBA Finals and were back in the championship round two years later. In the years since Allen acquired the team, the Trail Blazers have posted an impressive 958-732 record (a 56.7 winning percentage) and have been in the playoffs 16 times, an achievement few NBA teams have surpassed.

Allen co-founded Microsoft with Bill Gates in 1976 and remained the company's chief technologist until he left Microsoft in 1983. Founding Vulcan Inc., in 1986 to direct his philanthropy and business investments, Allen's current multibillion dollar investment portfolio includes large stakes in Plains All American, real estate holdings and more than 40 technology, media and content companies. Allen also owns the Seattle Seahawks and is part of the primary ownership group for the Seattle Sounders FC Major League Soccer franchise.

Raised in the Pacific Northwest, Allen has been named one of the top philanthropists in America - with lifetime giving totaling more than $900 million - and is committed to giving back to the region he still calls home. The Paul G. Allen Family Foundation strengthens communities and supports vulnerable populations in the areas of arts and culture, health and human services, opportunities for youth, and scientific advancement. Since its inception in 1988, the Foundation has made grants totaling nearly $48 million to organizations throughout Oregon. Beneficiaries in the Portland metropolitan area include Doernbecher Children's Hospital, SMART, Portland Center Stage, the Multnomah County Library Foundation, Artists Repertory Theatre, Metropolitan Family Services, Albina Head Start and Saturday Academy.

In 2003, Allen contributed $100 million to create the Allen Institute for Brain Science, a research facility dedicated to performing innovative basic research on the brain and distributing its discoveries to researchers around the world. In 2006, the Allen Institute completed its inaugural project, the Allen Brain Atlas, a Web-based, three-dimensional map of gene expression in the mouse brain which is freely accessible online; in 2008, the Allen Spinal Cord Project was launched.

In addition, Allen is the founder of Experience Music Project, Seattle's critically-acclaimed interactive music museum; the Science Fiction Museum and Hall of Fame; the Flying Heritage Collection, an assemblage of rare World War II aircraft restored to flying condition and shared with the public; and Vulcan Productions, the independent film production company behind the award-winning feature HARD CANDY; Far From Heaven; the Evolution series on PBS; The Blues, executive-produced by Martin Scorsese in conjunction with Allen and Jody Patton; the Peabody award-winning Black Sky: The Race for Space; Black Sky: Winning the X Prize; the Emmy award-winning Rx for Survival – A Global Health Challenge; and the Peabody award-winning Judgment Day: Intelligent Design on Trial.

CEO, Vulcan Sports & Entertainment

Tod Leiweke

On March 1, 2007, Trail Blazers Owner Paul Allen named Tod Leiweke CEO of Vulcan Sports & Entertainment, responsible for all aspects of the Portland Trail Blazers, Rose Garden Arena, Seattle Sounders FC, Seattle Seahawks and First and Goal Inc., the organization that manages Qwest Field and Event Center.

One of the first moves Leiweke oversaw after joining the Trail Blazers management team was the promotion of Kevin Pritchard to general manager of the club. Months later, Leiweke oversaw the hiring of Larry Miller as team president. Since then, the team has undergone a variety of improvements and has once again become one of the most respected franchises in professional sports.

Marking his 27th season in professional sports in 2009, Leiweke also serves as Chief Executive Officer for the Seahawks, having joined the organization in June 2003. He is also president of First and Goal Inc.

In 2006, under Leiweke's direction, the Seahawks sold out of season tickets for the first time since the early 1990's and developed Blue Pride, the team's season ticket waiting list. Seattle also extended its sellout streak at Qwest Field to 35 games.

In 2005, Sporting News named Qwest Field as the finest venue in the National Football League. Under Leiweke's leadership, 2005 was a historic year for the franchise. In addition to winning the NFC Championship and advancing to the team's first Super Bowl, the Seahawks won the 2005 NFL Sports Fan's Quality Award as the league's "Fan Friendliest" team.

Leiweke serves as a board member on a number of Washington-based organizations, including Washington CEO Roundtable, YMCA of Greater Seattle and the Space Needle. He was instrumental in launching the annual Boeing Classic golf tournament in 2005 and serves as co-chair of the Executive Committee for that event. The tournament has raised more than $2.4 million in its first three years with the primary beneficiary, The Heart Institute at Virginia Mason Medical Center. Leiweke served as chairman of the 2008-2009 United Way of King County campaign, and capped the campaign with the "Climb for the Community", climbing Mt. Rainier with NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell and renowned mountaineer Ed Viesturs.

Before joining the Seahawks, Leiweke served as president of the Minnesota Wild and chief operating officer of Minnesota Sports & Entertainment (MSE). Under Leiweke's leadership, the Wild played to sellouts every game in its first six seasons.

Prior to joining the Wild, Leiweke served as the inaugural executive director of The First Tee organization, which welcomes underprivileged youth into the world of golf through the development of golf facilities throughout North America. Leiweke has also held executive positions with the PGA TOUR, the Vancouver Canucks and the Golden State Warriors. Tod, 48 (1/12/60), is a native of St. Louis, and is married, to Tara, with two children, Tyler and Tori.

President

Larry Miller

Larry Miller was named President and Alternate Governor of the Portland Trail Blazers NBA franchise in June 2007. Having held executive positions with some of Oregon's most recognized brands, Miller brings to the team a polished reputation of being an inspirational leader and someone who understands how to build premium businesses by establishing strong connections in the community. As President of the Trail Blazers, he is responsible for all aspects of the organization's business portfolio, including all team business and basketball activities, and the Rose Quarter. Miller reports to Vulcan Sports and Entertainment CEO, Tod Leiweke.

Since Miller joined the club, the Trail Blazers have positioned themselves to make a respectable run at an NBA title, assembling one of the league's youngest teams with arguably some of the top talents in the sport. On the business front, the team ranked third in the NBA in attendance in 2008-09 with an 11% increase in game attendance, and a 22% increase in new business revenue over the 2007-08 season. For the 2009-10 season, the franchise celebrates a 101% season ticket retention rate to revenue, ranking third best in the NBA in number of seats renewed and over 10,200 in full season tickets, placing the organization second in the NBA. In 2008-09, the Trail Blazers' 54 wins were the sixth-most in franchise history and Portland earned a share of the divisional title for the first time since 1998-99. The 2008-09 season also continued a sellout streak of 71 straight games.

Prior to joining the Trail Blazers, Miller served as Vice President and General Manager of Nike Basketball where he was in charge of building strategies and executing plans that centered on the Jordan Brand, Nike Basketball and Converse. He was responsible for managing day-to-day operations of the Jordan Brand where he earned an exceptional track record for growing the Brand and setting the standard for athletic luxury footwear. His experience provided strong leadership for Nike's global category growth in basketball.

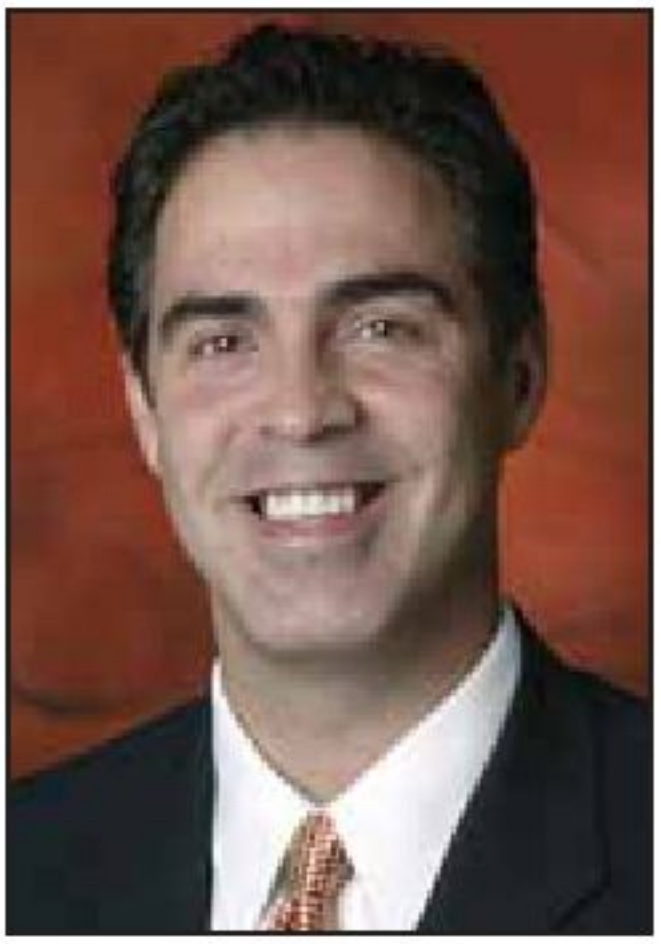
As President of Jordan Brand from 1999-2006, Miller led the brand through a period of strong growth as it expanded such product offerings as Women's apparel. He helped the division grow its portfolio of Team Jordan athletes and saw the Air Jordan Brand celebrate its 20th anniversary. The Jordan Brand had a continued growth in revenue during Miller's tenure and continues to have strong momentum. He originally joined the Nike team as Vice President of the U.S. Apparel division in 1997.

Before joining Nike, Miller served as President, Executive Vice President and Controller for Jantzen, Inc. He has also served as a Manager for Kraft General Foods, Assistant Controller at Philadelphia Newspapers, Inc., and held various positions with Campbell Soup.

Miller makes Portland his home, and currently serves on the board of directors for Self Enhancement Inc. ("SEI"), the Oregon Business Council, Oregon Sports Authority, and is a member of the Portland Mayor's Economic Development Cabinet. He is a passionate advocate for education and mentorship and was previously involved with the Urban League and Junior Achievement.

Miller earned his B.B.A. in Accounting from Temple University in 1982, and went on to get his M.B.A. at LaSalle University in 1985. He graduated from the Urban League Leadership Institute in 1987.

General Manager



Kevin Pritchard

Kevin Pritchard was named the Portland Trail Blazers' eighth General Manager on March 29, 2007. Promoted from Assistant General Manager, Pritchard oversees all day-to-day basketball operations and player personnel decisions for the team.

Entering his sixth year in Portland, Pritchard joined the club as the team's director of player personnel prior to the 2004-05 season. He has orchestrated a number of moves that have placed the Trail Blazers under the national spotlight as one of the up-and-coming teams in the NBA, including the selection of Greg Oden, the No. 1 pick overall in the 2007 NBA Draft. An excellent talent evaluator, Pritchard was instrumental in landing 2007 NBA Rookie of the Year Brandon Roy and 2007 NBA All-Rookie First Team selection LaMarcus Aldridge as part of an NBA record six draft day trades in 2006. Over the past four NBA Drafts, the Trail Blazers have executed 16 trades under Pritchard's influence.

Placing a premium on character and hard work in building the new culture of the Trail Blazers, Pritchard's maneuvering has helped Portland land young prospects in Martell Webster, Jerryd Bayless, Rudy Fernandez, Nicolas Batum, Dante Cunningham and Jeff Pendergraph, among others, since he arrived in the Rose City. Despite owning the NBA's second youngest roster, the Trail Blazers returned to the playoffs for the first time in six seasons in 2008-09 with a 54-28 record, the franchise's sixth best all-time mark. During the 2009 offseason, Prichard utilized the team's salary cap space to acquire veteran point guard Andre Miller and re-sign two-time NBA All-Star Brandon Roy to a contract extension.

Pritchard's tenure in Portland has also included interim head coaching duties for the final 27 games of 2004-05. He took over as coach on March 4, 2005, as the franchise opted to focus on developing its young players.

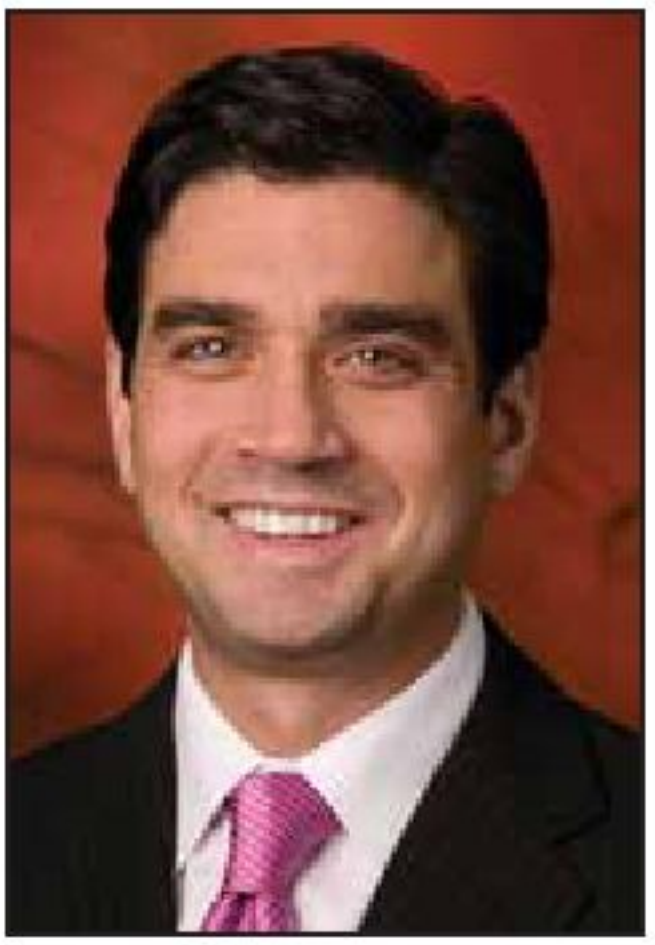
Prior to joining the Trail Blazers, the Oklahoma native spent two seasons (2001-03) as a scout for the San Antonio Spurs, and was a part of the Spurs' 2003 NBA Championship team.

From 1999-2002, Pritchard served as general manager, head coach and director of player personnel for the Kansas City Knights of the ABA, winning the ABA Championship in 2001-02. A member of the 1988 Kansas Jayhawks NCAA Championship team, Pritchard is one of the University of Kansas' all-time best. He averaged 12.2 points over four seasons while starting 129 of 139 games, was an All-Big 8 selection as a senior and was named to the All-Big 8 Academic Team three times. He ranks among the Jayhawks' all-time top 10 in scoring, assists, steals and 3-pointers.

Drafted in the second round (34th pick overall) by the Golden State Warriors in the 1990 NBA Draft, Pritchard played four seasons in the NBA. In addition to the Warriors, he played for Boston, Philadelphia, Miami and Washington. Pritchard also played in Spain, Italy and Germany and spent time in the Continental Basketball Association.

Born July 18, 1967, Kevin resides in Portland and is the father to K.J. and Kendall.

Vice President, Basketball Operations



Tom Penn

Promoted to Vice President of Basketball Operations in May 2009, Tom Penn is widely known as a top "salary capologist" - an expert on the NBA salary cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement. Penn works with General Manager Kevin Pritchard on negotiating player contracts, structuring player trades, evaluating talent and managing day-to-day basketball operations. In addition, Penn works directly with players and their agents on a number of player-specific issues.

The Trail Blazers' assistant general manager for the past two seasons, Penn came to Portland in May 2007 from the Memphis Grizzlies, where he served as assistant general manager/legal counsel since May 2000. For more than five NBA seasons in Memphis, Penn worked closely with legendary NBA executive Jerry West in player and team-related matters, as West built the Grizzlies into a playoff team.

In February 1999, Penn began his work with the Grizzlies when he joined owner Michael Heisley's NBA acquisition team. Penn helped advise and guide Heisley through the complicated acquisition process until Heisley ultimately purchased the Vancouver Grizzlies in May 2000. Penn was then named assistant general manager of the Grizzlies.

After graduating from the University of Illinois College of Law in 1993, Penn worked as a criminal defense attorney. Six weeks after being admitted to the Illinois bar, Penn defended back-to-back jury trials of felony armed robbery and felony drug possession cases. Within two days, both juries returned not guilty verdicts, and Penn's courtroom legal career was underway. Over the next five years, Penn successfully litigated more than 20 criminal jury trials.

As his legal career was growing, Penn simultaneously developed his expertise in professional basketball. Penn began representing basketball players as a player agent in 1994. In 1995, he founded a company that organized and performed professional basketball tours of Europe designed to help American players showcase their skills for European teams. The Upper Deck trading card company sponsored two European tours in 1997 and 1998. Fox Sports Television filmed and broadcast a documentary of the 1998 tour.

Penn graduated with honors from the University of Notre Dame in 1990. He and his wife, Melissa, are the proud parents of their daughter, Grace, and son, TJ.

Head Coach Nate McMillan

Through four seasons as Head Coach of the Portland Trail Blazers, Nate McMillan has taken one of the youngest teams in the NBA and developed it into one of the up-and-coming teams in the league. The 2008-09 regular season proved to be McMillan's finest since arriving in Portland, leading the Trail Blazers back to the NBA playoffs for the first time in six years. Portland's 54-win regular season was a 13-game improvement over the year prior and earned the Trail Blazers a share of the Northwest Division title. Portland finished the year a season-high 26 games above .500 at 54-28, the best record by a Trail Blazers team since 1999-2000, and the sixth-best record in franchise history. No small feat when you consider that McMillan's Portland side featured the second-youngest roster in the league and the first in NBA history to win 50 games with four rookies appearing in 50-plus contests. In recognition of the team's strong finish, McMillan was named the NBA's Western Conference Coach of the Month in April.

McMillan earned his 350th career victory in Milwaukee on March 21, 2009. No coach has more wins than McMillan, 360, with nine years of coaching experience or less. Among the 23 head coaches to reach the 300-win plateau during the last 20 seasons (1988-2008), only Jeff Van Gundy (42 years, 320 days on 12/04/04) and Mike Fratello (42 years, 312 days on 1/02/90) hit the milestone at a younger age than McMillan (43 years, 225 days on 3/15/08). McMillan has amassed 148 of his 360 wins in his four seasons in Portland, after gaining his first 212 wins while coaching the Seattle SuperSonics (2000-2005).

With a 41-41 record in 2007-08, McMillan guided the Trail Blazers to their first season of .500 or better since 2003-04. The nine-game win increase from the previous year was the fifth-best improvement in the NBA. McMillan, who was named of the Western Conference Coach of the Month for December of that season, was recognized for leading the team to a 13-game winning streak and a 13-2 month. The streak was the second best in the NBA that season and the second longest in Trail Blazers history. The team's winning percentage in December is the franchise's third highest, all-time.

McMillan finished his second season as head coach of the Trail Blazers in 2006-07 with a 32-50 record, an 11-game improvement from the season prior. That upswing in wins ranked third in the NBA in 2006-07 and is tied for the franchise's fourth greatest improvement, all-time.

In 2005, McMillan drew the attention of USA Basketball and was named an assistant coach on the U.S. Men's Senior National Team that captured the Gold Medal in the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, China. McMillan, along with head coach Mike Krzyzewski and fellow assistants Mike D'Antoni and Jim Boeheim, helped round out the coaching staff on a squad that featured NBA stars LeBron James, Kobe Bryant, Carmelo Anthony and Dwight Howard. It was announced in the summer of 2009 that McMillan and the coaching staff would return for another run together in their quest for a FIBA World Championship in 2010 and another Olympic Gold Medal in 2012.

After spending nearly two decades as a player and coach in Seattle, McMillan was introduced to Portland on July 7, 2005, as the Trail Blazers' 12th head coach. He stepped into the Trail Blazers top coaching position after capping a five-year tenure in Seattle, where he led the SuperSonics to the Northwest Division title and the league's sixth best record (52-30). Seattle made it to the Western Conference semifinals where they took eventual NBA champ San Antonio to six games before being eliminated.

Affectionately known as "Mr. Sonic" in the Puget Sound area, McMillan spent his entire 12-year NBA playing career in a Seattle uniform. After stepping down as a player, he served for two years as an assistant on head coach Paul Westphal's staff. Fifteen games into the 2000-01 season he was elevated to interim head coach. The 12th head coach in Supersonics' history, McMillan was at the time the youngest in the NBA at age 36. He made his coaching debut with a 105-93 victory over the Trail Blazers in the Rose Garden on Nov. 28, 2000, and the Sonics went 38-29 the rest of that season. The interim status was removed from McMillan's contract on Jan. 5, 2001.

The 2001-02 Seattle team posted a 45-37 regular season record and earned the seventh seed in the Western Conference Playoffs, forcing San Antonio to the series-deciding fifth game in the first round before losing.

Selected by the SuperSonics out of North Carolina State with the 30th pick in the 1986 NBA Draft, he went on to become one of the Seattle's most popular players and the franchise's all-time leader in assists and steals. He still ranks second in both categories and among the top 10 in eight other columns. Rated as one of the league's top defensive players with a hard-nosed style of play, McMillan was named to the All-NBA Defensive Second Team in 1994 and 1995. He led the league in steals in 1994-95, averaging a career-high 2.96 per game. McMillan posted a career average of 6.1 assists in 796 regular season games. On Feb. 26, 1987 vs. the Clippers, he dished out 25 assists, a league one-game rookie record he still shares with Ernie DiGregorio.

Seattle retired his No. 10 jersey in ceremonies on March 24, 1999, and in 2001 he was inducted to the National Junior College Basketball Hall of Fame. Nate led Chowan College of Murfreesboro, N.C., to the 1984 NJCAA National Tournament and was named NJCAA All-American before transferring to North Carolina State for his final two years of college.

Born Aug. 3, 1964, in Raleigh, N.C., McMillan and his wife, Michelle, have two children, Jamelle and Brittany.

Dean Demopoulos

Lead Assistant Coach

Dean Demopoulos has completed his fourth season in Portland since moving down Interstate 5 to reunite with his former boss, Nate McMillan, as lead assistant coach after serving as an assistant in Seattle for four years. Demopoulos went to the Super-Sonics in 2001 after 18 seasons of college coaching, 17 of those alongside Hall of Famer John Chaney at Temple University. Before Seattle, he served as head coach for one year at University of Missouri-Kansas City. That year, UMKC was ranked in the top 10 nationally in several statistical categories, including fewest turnovers (9.5 per game) and scoring defense (60.5 points per game). Demopoulos was an assistant under Chaney from 1983-84 through 1998-99. During that span, the Owls became a national basketball powerhouse, amassing a 393-151 (72.2%) record, making it to the NCAA Tournament 16 times and to the Elite Eight on four occasions. The run included 11 consecutive postseason appearances from 1990 to 2000. Temple won seven Atlantic 10 Conference titles and five conference tournament crowns, and in 1987-88, finished 32-2, earning the No. 1 ranking in the final Associated Press, UPI and USA Today/CNN polls. Fourteen Temple players went to the NBA during his tenure at the Philadelphia school. Born March 29, 1954, in Philadelphia, Demopoulos graduated from West Chester State in 1977 with a degree in comprehensive social sciences. He coached at Kennett, Pa., H.S. one year before joining John Chaney's staff. He and his wife, Pam, have a daughter, Allie, and a son, James.

Monty Williams

Assistant Coach

Having finished his fourth season on the Trail Blazers bench, Monty Williams is considered one of the promising young coaches in the NBA. Head Coach Nate McMillan charged Williams with running the team's 2007 and 2008 entries into the NBA Summer League in Las Vegas. The two teams featured young Trail Blazers prospects Greg Oden, LaMarcus Aldridge, Petteri Koponen, Jerryd Bayless and Nicolas Batum. Prior to joining the Trail Blazers, he earned a ring as a coaching staff intern with the NBA champion San Antonio Spurs in 2004-05, and during the summer of 2005, coached the Spurs' summer league entry in the Rocky Mountain Revue. Williams was a 10-year veteran of the NBA before chronic knee problems forced him into retirement in 2003. Selected by New York in the first round (24th pick overall) in the 1994 NBA Draft out of Notre Dame, Williams played for the Knicks, San Antonio, Denver, Orlando and Philadelphia. His best season was with the Spurs in 1996-97, when he averaged 9.0 points, 3.2 rebounds and 1.4 assists in 65 games and shot 50.9% from the field. Williams was a 6.3 ppg scorer in 456 career NBA games. He was an honorable mention All-American at Notre Dame after averaging 22.4 points and 8.4 rebounds during his senior season. Williams was away from basketball for two years during college (from 1990 to 1992) after being diagnosed with hypertropic cardiomyopathy, a rare condition of thickened muscle between the chambers of the heart. He earned a degree from Notre Dame's College of Arts and Letters, majoring in communications and theatre and was a 4.0 student at Potomac High School in Oxon Hill, Md. Active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, he was involved with fellow NBA guard Charlie Ward in distributing shoes and athletic equipment to impoverished communities in South Africa. He and his wife, Ingrid, are the parents of four children.

Maurice Lucas

Assistant Coach

"Luuuuuuuke!" The fan chant so familiar in Memorial Coliseum during the Trail Blazers' 1977 glory days can be heard again in the Rose Garden as Maurice Lucas enters his sixth season as assistant coach in 2009-10. He previously served as an assistant during the 1988-89 season. Lucas, who took 17 years off from full involvement in basketball to help raise his family, reunited with McMillan when he returned to the Trail Blazers in 2005. Lucas was a seasoned veteran with the Seattle SuperSonics in 1986-87, the year McMillan entered the league as a rookie guard. A two-time All-Star in the American Basketball Association, Luke came to the Trail Blazers as the second pick in the 1976 ABA dispersal draft. Experts say the acquisition was the final piece needed in the construction of the team that won the championship in the franchise's first post-season appearance. Known as "The Enforcer," Lucas teamed with center Bill Walton for one of the league's most feared combinations around the basket. He led Portland in scoring that title year, averaging 20.2 points a contest and was second to Walton in rebounding with 11.4 boards per game. All-NBA second team in 1977-78 and twice All-NBA Defense—first team in 1977-78 and second in 1978-79—he was a five-time All-Star game participant, three of those while wearing Trail Blazers colors. Traded to New Jersey in the middle of the 1979-80 season, he also played for New York, Phoenix, the L.A. Lakers and Seattle before finishing his 14-year professional career back in Portland in 1987-88. He averaged 15.6 points and 8.7 rebounds in 330 games as a Trail Blazer and 14.4 points and 8.8 rebounds during an 855 game NBA career. Lucas' number 20 was officially retired by the Trail Blazers in 1988. He played for Al McGuire at Marquette University and led the school to the 1974 NCAA Championship Finals. He scored 21 points and had 13 rebounds as Marquette lost to North Carolina State in the title game. Lucas serves as member of the board of the NBA Retired Players Association and has been involved in a number of successful business ventures in the Portland area. He lives in Portland with his wife, Pamela.

Joe Prunty

Assistant Coach

Joe Prunty enters his second season as an assistant coach with the Portland Trail Blazers and his 14th season in the NBA. Prunty served as an assistant coach with the Dallas Mavericks from 2005-08, during which the team went 178-68, including a trip to the NBA Finals in 2006. He spent nine seasons with the San Antonio Spurs. During his time with the Spurs, the team won three NBA Championships (1999, 2003 and 2005). Prunty joined the Spurs as the assistant video coordinator in the summer of 1996, before being named an assistant coach at the University of San Diego in April of 1997. He returned to the Spurs as the video coordinator in 1997-98 and was promoted to assistant coach/video coordinator during the summer of 2000. Then in 2002-03, he was promoted to assistant coach/advance scout. Entering the 18th year of his coaching career, Prunty has also coached on the high school and collegiate levels. He began coaching in 1992 at the University of San Diego High School and then St. Augustine High School. While at USDHS, he coached both the Lakers' Luke Walton and former Cubs pitcher Mark Prior. Since joining Portland, Prunty has served as head or assistant coach of the Trail Blazers' summer league team. From 2005-2007 Prunty coached the Mavericks summer league team, and from 1999-2004 he was either head or assistant coach for the Spurs' summer league squad. The Sunnyvale, Calif., native has also worked a wide variety of summer camps, including NBA Basketball Without Borders Europe in Turkey, NBA Developmental Camp in Indonesia, NBA Fit Camps in China, ABCD camp, Superstars, Pepperdine University, and University of San Diego. Prunty played his collegiate ball at De Anza College in Cupertino, Calif. He earned a bachelor's degree in speech communications from California Poly San Luis Obispo in 1991. He and his wife, Laura, were married in the summer of 2002 and are expecting their first child this year.

Bill Bayno

Assistant Coach

Bill Bayno tips-off his fourth season on the Trail Blazers bench after joining the team as an assistant coach in 2006, following two years as an international and collegiate scout for the organization. Bayno was the head coach of the 2003 CBA Champion Yakama Sun Kings for one-and-a-half seasons (2002-03). In 2002, as the head coach of Talk 'n Text of the Philippine Professional Basketball Association, Bayno won the regular season title and led his team to the final round of the playoffs where they lost in the final game. Former Trail Blazer Richie Frahm was also a member of that team. The New York native also experienced success as the head coach at UNLV from 1995-2000. Canales works closely with Portland's young roster on fundamentals and the development of basketball skills. He has also served as an assistant coach for the team's NBA Summer League entries in each of the last three seasons. Canales joined the Trail Blazers as a video intern in 2004, and spent the next three seasons as the team's video coordinator, where he prepared scouting video for coaches and developed the team's information technology. Prior to the 2008-09 season, Canales continued his rise within the organization when he was promoted to assistant coach/video coordinator. Before joining the Portland staff, Canales spent the 2003-04 season at the University of Texas-Arlington as an assistant coach for the men's basketball program. Prior to his tenure in basketball, Clark spent four seasons as an athletic trainer within the Los Angeles Dodgers minor league system. Clark is NATA Board Certified as an Athletic Trainer (ATC), holds NASM credentials in Performance Enhancement (PES) and Corrective Exercise (CES), and is certified as a strength and conditioning specialist (CSCS) by the NSCA. Along with his medical duties, Clark oversees all team equipment needs, acts as liaison to the visiting team and referees, coordinates the team attendant staff, and schedules road practices. PORTLAND TRAIL BLAZERS

Mission

The Portland Trail Blazers believe life is more than a game, more than the numbers on a scoreboard. We will give our time, talent and resources to help children and their families live, learn and play.

During the 2008-09 season, the Portland Trail Blazers staff, team and fans lent over 110,000 assists, impacting the lives of individuals across Oregon and Southwest Washington. Our goal is to ensure that number grows every day.

make it better auctions

Fans have the opportunity to bid on authentic autographed items from the Portland Trail Blazers as well as other professional teams during select home games. Also up for grabs are exclusive, behind the scenes Trail Blazers experiences. To find the next Trail Blazers home game auction, or to bid on the online auctions, visit www.trailblazers.com/makeitbetter.

make it better fund

The Portland Trail Blazers believe life is more than a game, which is the reason we work as passionately in the community as we do on the court. The make it better fund, established in partnership with the Oregon Community Foundation, brings the team together with our fans to make life-changing assists that directly impact the lives of children in Oregon and Southwest Washington where they live, learn and play. Every dollar donated to the fund goes back into our community. Together, we can make it better for the next generation.

Throughout the season, the Trail Blazers will be raising funds through scoreboard announcements, in-arena and online auctions and the sale of make it better merchandise at the Fan Shop.

MAKING A SPLASH --- Geoff Petrie is one of only eight players in the history of the NBA to score 2,000 or more points as a rookie. He led the Trail Blazers in their first season by scoring 2,031 points, earning co-Rookie of the Year honors for his efforts. Geoff's first-year performance placed him in select company. The list of other players to exceed that plateau as rookies includes Wilt Chamberlain, Oscar Robertson, Walt Bellamy, Rick Barry, Elvin Hayes, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Michael Jordan. Robertson and Jordan are the only other guards to accomplish the feat, and Jordan is the only rookie to do so since Petrie topped the 2,000 point mark 38 seasons ago.

FLIRTING WITH A QUAD --- Two Trail Blazers, Larry Steele and Clyde Drexler, came oh-so-close to joining a select group of four NBA players who have recorded quadruple doubles in a game. Steele was an assist shy of history when he had 12 points, 11 rebounds, 10 steals and nine assists in a win over the Lakers on Nov. 16, 1974. Twelve years later, Drexler missed doing it by one rebound when he recorded 26 points, 11 assists, 10 steals and nine rebounds to lead the Trail Blazers to a victory over Milwaukee on Oct. 10, 1986. David Robinson had the NBA's last quadruple double on Feb. 17, 1994. Others who have scored quadruple doubles over the years are Nate Thurmond, Alvin Robertson and Hakeem Olajuwon.

NOTES TO TRADE HISTORY

1. If a third team is not mentioned in the transaction, assume any draft pick is the choice of the team Portland is trading with or is Portland's choice.
2. If a draft choice acquired in a transaction is subsequently traded by Portland in that original deal, the choice is listed as 'choice traded.' Everywhere else when referring to a draft choice, the player eventually selected by Portland or by the team ultimately receiving the draft choice is shown in parentheses.
3. In trades, only what actually happened is given. If a team has several options in a deal, only the one it ultimately uses is given.
4. Names in boldface indicate players who actually played for the Trail Blazers or are on the current roster entering 2008-09.

BUCKING THE TURNOVER --- Forward Buck Williams' 49 minutes without a turnover in Portland's 138-132 double overtime victory over the San Antonio Spurs on May 15, 1990, are the third-most minutes logged without a miscue in NBA Playoff history. The win gave the Trail Blazers a 3-2 lead in the Western Conference Semifinals series they ultimately won in seven games.

COMEBACK KINGS ---The 1977 Portland Trail Blazers became the second team in NBA Finals history to rally from an 0-2 start and win the championship, joining the 1969 Boston Celtics, who fell behind the Lakers, 0-2, before recovering to win the series in seven games. Coach Jack Ramsay's Trail Blazers, despite losing the opening two games in Philadelphia (including an 18-point setback in Game 2), swept the next four contests to win the NBA title. Since then, the only team in NBA Finals history to accomplish the feat was the 2006 Miami Heat, who fell behind Dallas, 0-2, before recovering to capture the championship in six games.

21 IN A ROW --- The Trail Blazers' run of 21 consecutive playoff appearances came to an end in 2003-04. The Trail Blazers battled down to the final week of the season before missing the cut for the first time since 1982. Their string of 21 straight is the second longest in NBA history and just one short of the league record of 22 set by the Syracuse/Philadelphia franchise from 1950 to 1971. The longest current streak is now 12, owned by the Los Angeles Lakers. The Trail Blazers have missed the playoffs only 12 times in their 39 years in the league, with six of those misses coming in the franchise's first six seasons.

Trail Blazers Broadcasting Team

Brian Wheeler

Radio Play-by-Play

Brian Wheeler enters his 12th season as the radio play-by-play voice of the Portland Trail Blazers. Wheeler's exciting style and trademark "BOOM-CHAKA-LAKA" dunk calls have endeared him to basketball fans throughout the Pacific Northwest. In addition to anchoring the Trail Blazers' radio coverage, he also hosts his own daily talk show on the team's flagship radio station, 95.5 The Game, titled "Wheels At Work." "Wheels" has never missed a broadcast in his Trail Blazers career, having called the play-by-play for 997 games entering this season. Wheeler is in his 26th year of broadcasting, and was named the Oregon Sportscaster of the Year for 2007 by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association. Prior to joining the Trail Blazers, he spent three years as a member of the Kings' broadcast team in Sacramento, serving as the team's pre- and post-game show host as well as handling the play-by-play for a select number of games each season. He also had his own talk show on the team's flagship radio station. "Wheels" was also the original play-by-play voice on radio and television of the WNBA's Sacramento Monarchs. Before Sacramento, Wheeler spent two seasons working in Seattle as part of the Sonics' broadcast group and also hosted a daily talk show on their flagship radio station. Wheeler has NBA ties to Chicago, where he worked on the Bulls' radio broadcasts in their first championship season. "Wheels" got his start in broadcasting in Chicago, earning a broadcasting/communications degree from Loyola University. He then spent nine seasons as the basketball play-by-play announcer on both radio and TV for his alma mater. His extensive experience in the Windy City also included broadcast stints for the Chicago White Sox, Northwestern University and SportsChannel.

Antonio Harvey

Radio Analyst

Former Trail Blazer Antonio Harvey returns to the Blazers Broadcasting team for a fifth season as radio analyst. He will be working alongside familiar play-by-play voice Brian Wheeler providing insightful commentary on the team, the NBA and the game of basketball. Harvey played for the Trail Blazers in 1999-00 and 2000-01, averaging 2.3 points and 1.5 rebounds in 31 games. He picked the Rose City as the place to raise his family after 10 years in the NBA. Harvey went undrafted, but saw action with the L.A. Lakers, L.A. Clippers, Vancouver, Seattle and Atlanta, as well as Portland before retiring in 2003. Since then, he has focused on engaging young people in the game of basketball while mentoring them on life skills, work ethic, discipline and teamwork. Mike Barrett

Television Play-by-Play

Mike Barrett is in his 10th season with the Trail Blazers, and seventh as the Trail Blazers' TV play-by-play broadcaster, calling all the team's television games on KGW-8 (NBC) and Comcast SportsNet. He worked his first two seasons with Steve "Snapper" Jones, and the last four with Mike Rice. In addition to the play-by-play duties, Barrett hosts a weekly TV show "Trail Blazers Courtside" with Rice and radio broadcaster Brian Wheeler, which airs year-round on Comcast SportsNet and streams live on the team's website, trailblazers.com. He also writes a popular blog for trailblazers.com. Barrett joined the Trail Blazers in 1999 and was hired to be the radio studio host, the TV pregame and halftime host, and hosted the 5th Quarter, the radio post-game show. He also served as the editor of Rip City Magazine, the official publication of the Trail Blazers. In the summer of 2000, Barrett became the play-by-play broadcaster on radio and television for the WNBA's Portland Fire, and continued in that role until the team disbanded after the 2003 season. A life-long Blazers fan, Barrett grew up in Albany, Ore., and after graduating from West Albany High, moved on to Oregon State. Soon after graduating with a degree in Journalism, he moved to Portland, where he got a job at KUIK-AM 1360 in Hillsboro, calling high school basketball games. In 1992, Barrett took a job as the Sports Director at KXL Newsradio 750 in Portland, the Trail Blazers' flagship station. One of his first assignments was covering the Blazers' 1992 run to the NBA Finals against the Chicago Bulls. While at KXL, he anchored the morning and afternoon sportscasts, and also joined the radio broadcast team for the University of Oregon football program, working the sidelines for the Ducks for eight seasons. Mike resides in Tualatin with his wife, Shelly. They have a son, Jack, and a daughter, Gabby.

Mike Rice

Television Analyst

Veteran head basketball coach and basketball commentator Mike Rice, in his 20th season on the Trail Blazers broadcasting team, marks his fifth year as the team's television color commentator on KGW-8 and Comcast SportsNet. Rice, who joined the Trail Blazers in 1991, has teamed with all three Portland radio personalities—first Bill Schonely, then Eddie Doucette and finally with Brian Wheeler for seven seasons before making the switch to television. Rice was an honorable mention All-America selection at Duquesne as a senior, when he led the Dukes to a third-place national ranking and an NIT invitation. Selected in the eighth round of the 1962 NBA Draft by the Detroit Pistons, he opted instead to pursue a career in coaching. After posting a 245-71 record (.773) in 13 years at the high school level, Rice entered the college ranks in 1977 as an assistant coach at his alma mater. After being named head coach of the Dukes the next year, he guided them to a 62-49 (.559) record from 1978-1982. Rice went on to Youngstown State in 1982 after leading Duquesne to two NIT appearances and twice earning Eastern Eight "Coach of the Year" honors. During his five-year tenure there, the Penguins recorded one 20-win season and two second-place conference finishes. Twice his teams reached the title game in the Ohio Valley Conference tournament. Rice moved to the broadcast booth in 1987 as a college analyst for ESPN. A regular on ESPN's "Big Monday" lineup, he provided commentary for the games in the Big West as the primary analyst for the Western Athletic Conference. Rice has also worked women's NCAA regional championship games, the Division II championship game and high school all-star games. In 1989, he added broadcast duties with SportsChannel America as the primary analyst on its World Basketball League broadcasts. The WBL was familiar territory for Rice, who joined the Youngstown Pride in 1987 first as head coach, and later as director of basketball operations. His wife Kathy is a former Duquesne basketball player. The couple has two daughters, Susan and Stephanie, both graduates of Syracuse University, and a son, Mike, who played at Fordham University and is now the head coach of Division-I Robert Morris University in Pittsburgh, Pa. Before that, the younger Mike served on the staffs at Fordham, Marquette, Pittsburgh, Niagara and St. Joseph's in Philadelphia.

Rebecca Haarlow

Television Sideline Reporter

Rebecca Haarlow begins her third season as a sideline reporter and feature producer with the Trail Blazers in 2009-10. Before joining the Trail Blazers, Haarlow was a TV host and reporter for Fox Sports Net in Los Angeles. Most recently, she helped launch the Big Ten Network as a college football sideline reporter. In 2007, she made her national television debut on FSN, traveling to Australia to host the Aussie Millions poker tournament. Haarlow began her broadcasting career in the San Francisco Bay Area, where for three years she worked for Silicon Valley Sports & Entertainment, the San Jose Sharks, and the SAP Open men's professional tennis tournament. Simultaneously, she covered the Sacramento Kings and co-hosted "Kingswatch" as the sideline reporter for Foothill 7 Television in Sacramento. Haarlow is a graduate of Princeton University, where she was a first team All-Ivy heptathlete and captain of the track & field team. She earned a degree in history, with a focus in American Studies and the U.S. Civil War. A native of Hinsdale, Ill., Haarlow comes from a family of five. Her parents John and May reside in Hinsdale with the family dogs Jessie and Quincy, while her two brothers, John and Mike, live in Chicago.

Bob Akamian

Television Studio Host

TV Studio host and producer Bob Akamian begins his 11th season with Trail Blazers Broadcasting. Akamian will co-host and produce Trail Blazers Home Court pregame, postgame and halftime programming on Comcast SportsNet and the Trail Blazers television network and continue to serve as fill-in announcer and producer on other Trail Blazer broadcasts. Bob has hosted Gameday and the 5th Quarter on the Trail Blazers radio network, filled in as radio analyst and produced or reported for a number of Trail Blazer broadcast programs and Rip City magazine. When the Blazers are not playing, Bob works with TNT on its awarding-winning NBA coverage as a field producer and assistant director. He won a 2007 Emmy Award for his role in the popular "Inside the NBA" studio show. Bob is also the play-by-play voice of University of Idaho and University of Nevada televised football games. His production company, bobtv, LLC packages production for multiple colleges in the West. A life-long NBA fan, the San Francisco native became hooked following the Golden State Warriors underdog run to the 1975 championship. The Blazers' similar run two years later cemented Portland's place in his heart. Bob and his wife, Carol, have two daughters, Elaine and Emily.

Michael Holton

Television Studio Analyst

Former Trail Blazer Michael Holton begins his third season with the Trail Blazers as an in-studio analyst. Prior to his role in the studio, Holton served as a radio analyst for the Trail Blazers and was also a color analyst for ESPN's coverage of NCAA basketball. In addition, Holton served as a co-host on 750 KXL's "Ducks Rewind," a weekly show analyzing Oregon Ducks men's basketball. Holton has also worked for NBC/KGW-TV and 1080 The Fan. After retiring from the NBA, Holton served as the head coach of the University of Portland from 2001-06. Prior to that, Holton served as an assistant coach for Pasadena City College (1993-94), Oregon State University (1995-96) and UCLA (1996-01). Holton began his NBA career as a third-round selection by the Golden State Warriors in the 1983 NBA Draft but did not play until the 1984-85 season when he played for Phoenix. In six seasons, Holton played for the Suns, Bulls, Trail Blazers and Hornets. Holton played in 325 NBA games, averaging 6.2 points, 1.4 rebounds and 3.0 assists. Before beginning his professional career, the Seattle native earned his degree from UCLA, where he was a four-year letter winner for the basketball team from 1979-1983.

Bill Schonely

Founding Broadcaster/Ambassador

"Mr. Rip City," aka Bill Schonely, is serving as the Blazer family's Founding Broadcaster/Ambassador for the sixth year. "The Schonz," who was the voice of the Trail Blazers from their birth in 1970 through the 1998 playoffs, hosts "Blazers Flashbacks" on radio and "Memorable Moments" on Blazers television, looking back at the franchise's hallmark events, and serves in a variety of ways as the organization's ambassador to the community. In 2009 alone, the local legend was named Portland First Citizen by the Portland Metropolitan Association of Realtors, Grand Marshall of the Rose Festival Starlight Parade and had the "Bill's Kids Fund" established in his name by Providence Child Center to honor his longstanding dedication to and compassion for the medically fragile children who call the center home. Schonely's 30 years with Blazers Broadcasting was the second-longest tenure in the NBA to the late Chick Hearn, the legendary voice of the Lakers. A nominee for the prestigious Curt Gowdy Award at the Basketball Hall of Fame, Schonely's popularity has prompted the city councils and mayors of Portland, Vancouver, Wash., Lake Oswego and Gresham to pass resolutions calling for his inclusion into the Hall. Bill called his last Trail Blazers game on April 30, 1998, a first round playoff contest with the L.A. Lakers. The next two years he hosted Rip City TV specials and provided sideline commentary during BlazerVision telecasts at the Rose Garden. He was courtside calling the action when Portland played its first-ever preseason game on Sept. 24, 1970, in Longview, Wash., and over the next three decades did the play-by-play for 2,522 Trail Blazers contests home and away. With the Portland Beavers, Schonz was honored as Oregon's Sportscaster of the Year in 2003 by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association. Nine years earlier, he was named Broadcaster of the Year by the Oregon Association of Broadcasters and three times has been honored as the state's Sportscaster of the Year by the OAB. In 1998, the OAB established an annual college scholarship in Schonely's name for aspiring sports broadcasters and writers. In 2002, he was inducted into the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame. A native of Norristown, Pa., he served in the Marine Corps and did a sports show for Armed Forces Radio overseas before going to work for radio station KVI in Seattle. He was the voice of the Seattle Totems hockey team in the Western Hockey League. He also did University of Washington football, Seattle Angels baseball, the Oakland Seals in the National Hockey League and Major League Baseball's Seattle Pilots. After the Pilots moved to Milwaukee in 1970, the Portland Trail Blazers came calling. Schonely is involved in helping support numerous charitable causes, including the American Heart Association, Life Flight and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, and is a board member of the Providence Child Care Center Foundation. Bill and his wife, Dottie, live in Charbonneau.

Brian Wheeler (left) and Antonio Harvey will continue the tradition of "The Schonz" as the voice of the Trail Blazers. The duo will broadcast all 82 regular-season games, in addition to the preseason.

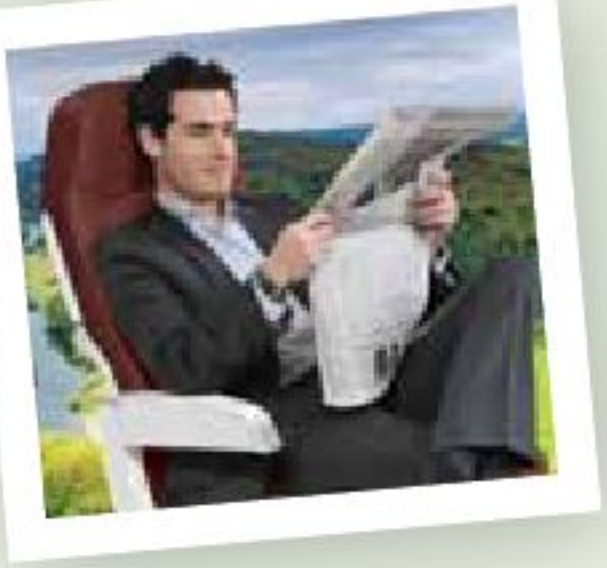
Bombardier Q400



- uses 30-40% less fuel
- produces 30-40% less emissions
- produces 10 decibels less community noise

Horizon Air's 76-seat Bombardier Q400 is among the most environmentally friendly aircraft in the skies today. It burns less fuel and produces less emissions than any similar-capacity jet. In fact, the Q400 is more fuel efficient than an average car on a per-passenger basis.

Inside, two seats on each side ensure you get a window or an aisle seat on every flight, while technology originally developed for U.S. submarines makes the Q400 the quietest turboprop in the world. And outside, the Q400 produces less community noise than a jet.
